Hello sisters,

Heavens how the week has flown by. It's time for weekend prepping tasks already. Also, have some news for those who collect social security. The cost-of-living-adjustment for social security for 2023 is going up by 8.7%, yippee! It's not much but in times like these every little bit helps. Medicare part B premiums are also DECREASING by $5.20.

Yeah, I know not much but again every little bit counts.

Okay, with no further ado let's get on with our tasks for this weekend.

1. Review home insurance to ensure adequate coverage. Check into flood insurance while you're at it.
2. Walk around your home with a critical eye for any security issues. Make a list of what needs to be done to make your home more secure.

There you go, easy peasy but important.

Have a great weekend and prep on,

Barb 🌻
