Hello Sisters,

It's that time again. Things are getting a bit more whacky in the world as of late so we need to stay prepared. With a possible railroad strike and inflation getting ridiculous (do not believe when they tell you it is easing) we wimmin need to be prepared for any eventuality. I just learned this week that Walgreen's are closing their stores and Kroger is taking over Albertsons.

You will notice I am cutting the weekend tasks down to one a weekend. It is my hope that you can manage this more easily and DO IT. I know some may seem silly but trust me you won't regret doing any of them. Okay enough talk from my soap box on to your weekend prep:

Go through your house and quickly jot down all your cleaning supplies. Yup, I know, thrilling. Here's why, these products may become harder to find. If anything were to happen you want your living space as sanitary as possible. Have you seen the water shortages across the country...don't think it can't happen here, think again. Having your favorite cleaning supplies makes things a bit less stressful. You might want to add a couple of gallons of water to your cleaning preps and keep them together. Keeping things sanitary keeps down disease and that is again one less thing to deal with.

Remember it's better to have and not need than to need and not have!

Prep on,

Barb 🌻
